J., took place yesterday at the port, which said that the board had taken home of Mr. and Mrs Shawhan, overlook- the matter of bridges under consideration, and had called on the city engineer for his views on the question. "Mr. Jeup." it continued, "in a report filed to-day, advises against the construction of any new iron or steel bridges at this time for the reason afternoon for Philadelphia and later will go that the cost of such structures would be to their home, which is one of the suburbs from 25 to 50 per cent. greater than last year, and for the further reason that such bridges could not possibly be delivered in The patronesses for the event will be less than six months. He further recomn ends the construction of concrete and steel arch bridges, with stone facings, across Fall creek at Meridian and Illinois streets at once, and the building, in the spring of next year, of iron bridges across White river at West Washington street and across Fall creek at Indiana avenue, as well as strengthening the present bridges at Northwestern avenue across Fall creek, and Michigan and Morris streets across White river. He estimates the cost of building the four new bridges at $150,000. The board heartily concurs in the report of the engineer, and in this city last night. The bride is one of hopes to be able to take up the matter very

ALL FAVOR IMMEDIATE ACTION. The mayor asked for an expression of opinion on the subject from the other officials. City Engineer Jeup said that beyond crete structures, such as he had recomn ended for Meridian and Illinois streets, a great deal cheaper. It would be impossible, he said, to erect fron and steel bridges ers of these structures were handicapped at essary material, which is now very scarce. Mr. Jeup estimated the cost of the com-Lined steel and concrete arches for Meridian and Illinois streets at about $45,000 each, and said that the iron bridges at Washington street and Indiana avenue would cost about bridges. Colonel Downing, of the Board of Works, Mr. Coffin, of the Park Board, and Mr. Roth, of the Board of Safety, all expressed themselves as favorable to the movement for the building and improving of the bridges throughout the city, and the mayor closed the discussion with the announcement that the question would be acted upon at an early date.

THE TELEPHONE QUESTION. The telephone question was next taken up The two telephone companies have, for some time, been fighting for the contract to supply the city offices with telephone service, and now the Central Company has come to proposition--an offer, in fact, to give the city free service for the next six months, beginning July 1. In the communication, which the mayor's secretary read to the oftotal of the bills against the city offices for service up to the end of June amounted to $1,903.02. "The service for the last half of the year would cost the same amount," etter ran. "We propose to receipt your bills for that amount up to Dec. 31, and continue to give the same service that you are now receiving, amounting, in reality, to six months free service. By accepting this offer, the city will avoid the necessity of asking any additional appropriation for telephone service." All of the officials present extheir surprise at this The members of the Board of Safety said that not until they had accepted the terms offered by the New Telephone Company were they able to get any kind of a proposition from the Central people other than the usual rates charged, and that the board felt inclined to stick to the New Company on this account. All of the board members Dewitt Nay, formerly known in this city, thought that the present offer was made additional prestige with the hope of secur-ing the contract with the city for the year All of the officials agreed, however, that there was no objection to somethin' for nothin'," and, altho matter was not settled. Mayor Taggart said that, doubtless, the best plan would be to use both telephone systems for the last half of the year, and then request new propositions from the companies next January. The only other business accomplished was the reading of several minor reports from the different departments. After all of the different city offices had been heard from except the Health Board, the mayor turned to Dr. Lockridge and asked if there was anything in his department to be dis-

"No." said the doctor, leaning back in his chair in a satisfied manner, "I'm glad to say that the Board of Health is emerging from its sea of troubles. We've got entirely clear of smallpox now and have a great deal to be "How about the new case?" inquired the There's no new case," replied the doctor.

"Yes, there is a new one," said the mayor. "It broke out this morning."
"Well, bless my soul," was the only reply And the laugh was on the doctor.

EMERINE'S VENGEANCE,

Tries to Kill a Man Who, He Says, Mistreated His Daughter.

Charles Emerine, an employe of the Inlianapolis Gas Company, was arrested last night by Policemen Butcher and Paulsy and charged with shooting with intent to kill. Emerine lives at 2210 Cornell avenue. While driving home, at the corner of Twenty-second street, he saw Thomas Owens, aged nineteen, William Walters, twentythree, and P. W. Moore, 2202 Columbia avenue. Emerine got out of the buggy and, with a revolver in his hand, started after Owens and Walters. Owens ran and was caught by Emerine on the rear porch of a house in the neighborhood, where Owens received a severe beating. He finally succeede in getting away. when Emerine shot at him, but without effect. Walters claimed he was also struck by Emerine with the butt of the revolver, but was not injured. To the officers, after his arrest, Emerine said that Tuesday evening his stepdaughter Gertrude, thirteen years of age, left home early in the evening to go, as he thought, a rehearsal at one of the churches did not return until after 11 o'clock. Her hair was disarranged, her face was dirty and her clothing torn. Emerine claimed to have learned, in a manner not explained that she had been with Owens and Walters to Fairview Park. He also said she had again left home about 5 o'clock yesterday morning and had not returned at the time he was last there. He said he intended to kill Owens, and regretted that he had not done so. "Anyone who ruins my daughter," he refused to talk to reporters of the matter. He was later released on a bond of $1,000, given by his employer. Owens and Walters had not been found at a late hour.

HOMOEOPATHIC PHYSICIANS.

Thirty-Third Annual Session of Their State Society. The thirty-third annual session of the Indiana Institute of Homoeopathy, the state society of the Homoeopathic physiclans, began yesterday forenoon at the Denison Hotel, and was called to order by its president, Dr. H. N. Coons, of Lebanon, about sixty members being in attendance After a few preliminaries the president's address was delivered, detailing the medical and surgical progress made during the year just past, and the needs of the society for the one to follow. The secretary's report was presented by Dr. A. W. Holcombe of Kokomo, and the treasurer, Dr. Sollis Runnels, of this city, reported the finances in excellent shape.

The reading of essays was begun at the afternoon session, those in the bureau of sanitary science coming first, Dr. S. Harrell, of Noblesville, chairman, whose subject was "Lung Disease Sanitation," talked extemporaneously. Dr. W. B. Clarke, of this city, followed with a short paper entitled "The Cause of Cancer," which reviewed the investigations along this line, and their negative results, and rapidly outlined the work of Virchow, the father of cellular pathology, and advanced a novel theory that cancer was caused by certain unsanitary practices, which set up a disturbance of the equilibrium of normal cell action. In the discussion Dr. G. W. Bowen, of Fort Wayne, and Dr. A. W. Holcombe, of Koomo, corroborated the views of the essa; st, and Dr. F. C. Stewart and Dr. W. Stewart, of this city, also spoke. Dr. J. N. Taylor, of Crawfordsville, recently president of the State Board of Health, followed with an interesting paper on "The Hygiene and Management of Old Age." He took the ground that while endless essays and vol-umes had been written in behalf of the young and the middle aged, none had been published in the interest of the old. and proceeded to outline the course which should followed to insure comfort and longer of Fort Wayne, and Dr. E. H. Pratt, a surgeon, editor and author of note, of Ch cago, expressed great interest. Dr. H. A. Adams, of this city, in the eye and ear bureau, read a paper on "Choroiditis," serious affection of the eye, which attracted attention and favorable comment. The bureau of surgery was then opene the first paper, by its chairman, Dr. C. E. McCulloch, of this city, being entitle "Resume of the Year's Surgical Advance, a title which well describes the contents of the paper. Dr. O. S. Runnels, of this city followed with a paper entitled "Opportune Surgery," outlining conditions ordinarily left to medicine wherein surgery produces the best results. Dr. C. E. Sawyer, of Marion, O., recently elected president of the Ohio State Homoeopathic Society, followed with a paper on "The Importance of After Treatment in Surgical Cases." Pratt, of Chicago, was called on and dis cussed the papers in a most interesting manner. Dr. W. R. Bentley, of Morristown, decried so much recourse to surgery in cases which, as he believed, were purely medical in character, but was practically considered out of order, as surgery, not therapy, was now in evidence. In the evening the first paper was in the bureau of nose and throat, by Dr. J. M. Hicks, of Huntington, on "Closure of the Nose and Its Surgical Treatment," detailing his method of the cure of such cases. Dr. W. R. Stewart, of this city, followed with a paper on ear troubles and their treatment. Dr. G. W. Bowen, of Fort Wayne, the oldest homoepathic physician in the State, now in his forty-eighth year of unbroken practice at Fort Wayne, read the next paper, in the bureau of neurology, on the subject of "Insanity." Out of thirtyfive cases of this disease he had effected a cure in twenty-six, he said. His paper evoked much interest, and discussion was brisk. Dr. F. H. Huron, of Danville, in the bureau of materia medica, then read his paper. "Is There Science in Applied Materia Medica?" As Dr. Huron is a civil war veteran, and was color bearer in General Harrison's old Seventieth Indiana, his paper naturally abounded with military illustrations. His paper was very interesting and was discussed by Drs. Bentley and Hol-combe. Dr. E. H. Pratt, of Chicago, an apostle of the branch of medical and surgical practice called orificial philosophy presented the claims of a new name for the practice, and incidentally made an impassioned address regarding the truth of the principles underlying that system. The in-stitute then adjourned till this morning.

A MIXED UP FIGHT.

A Butcher and Others in It-William Cox's Condition.

Savannah Jacoby, a butcher, lives at No.

17 South Senate avenue. Harry Burgess lives at No. 19 South Senate avenue. About three weeks ago trouble arose between the families and continued until night when a free-for-all fight tween them was reported to Warren and Haley, the district patrolmen. They investigated, but were unable at that time to find the people. Later, a woman living at No. 19, telephoned to the police station that the people had returned. Jacoby was ar- cating y, "you air leadin' me over my rested by Patrolmen Larsh and Morgan and dication limits. All I kin say is it made sken to the station, In explanation of the an' deef nin' as a b-il of a noise."

trouble he said two men living at No. 19 had several times during the day stopped in front of his place and made insulting remarks to the women and also threatened to "go in and clean out the place." About 8 o'clock, while he was at home, they again returned, and he took up the matter. A fight followed in which a club was used. Jacoby said he hit one of the men on the head with a club and then went into the house. He said the man whom he struck ran through the yard at No. 19 and disappeared back of the house. He clamed he did not know the man. Other reports reached the police to the effect that Bert Hayton, a bartender, who lived with Jacoby, had been connected with the fight and had been seen, together with Jacoby, beating a man with clubs. Hayton denies that he had anything to do with the fight except as a witness. The man who was clubbed is said to have been a boarder at the Burgess place for several days, but they were unable to tell his name. The man who was with him was not

At the station Jacoby, in describing the man whom he had hit, gave an almost perfect description of William Cox, who was found unconscious about an hour later at the corner of Illinois and Ohio streets Though Cox was known to some of them, he could not be identified as one of the men concerned in the fight. Sergeant Wallace Detectives Gerber and Morgan and Patrolmen Haley, Warren, Larsh and Morgan and Bicycle Police Holtz and Bray were all Working on the case. Somebody seems to have been fighting some one else, but who was who was a question at a late hour this morning. Detectives Gerber and Morgan think William Cox was one of the mon, but have no positive evidence. Cox was formerly a sketch artist, and later has been employed as a waiter in a beer garden on West Maryland street. He was found about 9 o'clock at the corner of Illinois and Ohio streets, unconscious. He was sitting in a doorway. The ambulance was called and he was taken to the City Dispensary, where it was found there was a large lump on the back of his head, and his face was scratched in several places. It was thought he had been drinking. Froth issued from his mouth and the pupils o his eyes were much contracted. The Dis pensary doctors did not believe he had taken polson, and being unable to revive him, he was sent to the City Hospital. The hospital physicians think he is suffering largely from liquor. The Dispensary ambulance driver and Bicycle Police Lancaster and Streit were told Cox had been brought to the place where he was found by two men, who said they had found him in the Statehouse yard, and that he should be taken to 2826 Massachusetts avenue. Cox regained consciousness about midnight.

How Gold Fish Thrive.

Several weeks ago a society woman of Princeton, Ind., while in the city on a shoptorium and will greet Dr. W. H. Wishard, ping tour, purchased four gold fish at one MENACE TO THE COUNTRY tructed her how to feed them and told he to change the water every once in a while Yesterday the firm received the following letter from the woman: "Three weeks ago I bought two pair of gold fish from you. Yesterday morning I noticed one of them floundering around, going backwards and got pale. Its tail became like a fringe and evening it was dead. It seems to me the others look pale also. What do you suppose s the matter with them? Write me at once and at the same time please tell me something about breeding them.'

A Castleton's Man's Injuries. John Kreiger, forty-five years of age, living at Castleton, while driving across the tracks at Central avenue and Thirtieth picked up and brought on the car to Wash-Dispensary.
